

Symposium: "Ordinary People, Extraordinary Times/The Black Freedom Movement, 1960's to the Present"

Wednesday, March 7, 2007
Trayes Hall, Douglass Campus Center
6:00pm-10:00pm

6-7:30: Panel 1: "Politics of Gender and the Movement"

8-9:30: Panel 2: "Public Spaces, Places, Locations and the Movement"

Panelists include: Courtland Cox (Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee/SNCC), Angela Dews (Howard University activist and writer), Christina Greene (Wisconsin/Madison, Our Separate Ways), Beverly Guy-Sheftall (Spelman, Words of Fire) Zenzele Isoke (RU Women's and Gender Studies Graduate Program, organizer/Hip Hop Convention 2004), Steven F. Lawson (RU History, Black Ballots), Donna Murch (RU History Department), Suzanne Pharr (former Director of Highlander Education and Research Center, Homophobia: A Weapon of Sexism), Judy Richardson (SNCC, Producer of Eyes on the Prize), Shirley Sherrod (Federation of Southern Land Cooperatives Fund)

Moderated by Clement A. Price (FASN-History), Director of the Institute on Ethnicity, Culture, and the Modern Experience, Rutgers-Newark

Segments of the award-winning Eyes on the Prize will be screened throughout the week in celebration of its re-release and Ms. Richardson's presence on our campus.

For more information call 732-932-1711

Sponsored by the Committee to Advance Our Common Purposes